

Dear Parent/Guardian,

Here is a reminder of some of the books your child may bring home in their bookbags.

1) A book to show

This will be a book that the children can already read well as they'll have read it several times in school during the previous weeks. Let them show you what they can do! We now use these books in school over a 2-week period, so these books will only come home every other week.

2) A book to challenge

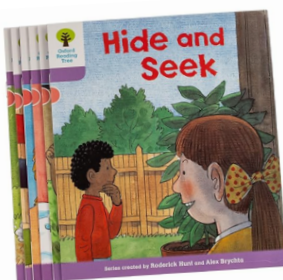

This book is matched with the sounds your child has learned, but they won't have read it before. They may need to 'Fred' talk some words (sound them out).

3) A book to share!

This is a book your child has chosen from their class library. It is unlikely they can read it for themselves. Please read it to them and allow them to enjoy a story with you. Reading to your child is the most important thing you can do to encourage their future success at reading.

4) A book for variety

When your child can read most texts and they are getting to grips with set 3 sounds, we also send home an Oxford Reading Tree book. These books are similar to the RWI books but they haven't been specifically matched so they provide a bit of variety of your child.

We really value your support with reading at home. Just a few minutes a day can make a huge difference.

Thank you for your support,
